

NEW Online Job Recruitment Platform Available in Indiana for Educators

November 3, 2017

Expanding student access to effective educators in every classroom and school is a key priority for the Indiana Department of Education (IDOE). In order to connect educators with district recruiters, the IDOE Office of Educator Effectiveness is providing access to Teachers-Teachers.com online recruitment service. Teachers-Teachers.com is designed to help provide educators access to a database of job openings for teaching, administration, and other related service personnel positions. Teachers-Teachers.com can help job seekers find the perfect job opening, by enabling educators to-

- Establish a job seeker profile to share education, work experience, certifications, references, and other relevant resume information;
- Upload transcripts, licenses, letters of recommendation, and other important documents;
- Highlight special skills, languages, extracurricular involvement, and awards/honors;
- Explore jobs nationwide that meet location and position preferences;
- Setup notification alerts when new jobs are posted that match search criteria;
- Review and respond to employer communications and job campaigns, and;
- Apply for job postings with one click! Once an account is created, job seekers can start applying for job postings using their profile.

Educators can register for free at Indiana.Teachers-Teachers.com. Successful registration adds educators' professional information to a database of job seekers accessible to all Indiana districts and charter schools, as well as others around the nation.

Please share this information with your stakeholders and encourage those that will be looking for job opportunities to establish job seeker accounts today.
