

Nathan is an 11th grade student with autism spectrum disorder. His communication skills are inconsistent, although he is able to express needs, information and some emotions to those he knows well. With support for behavior, Nathan has participated in general education curriculum. However, there has not been adequate academic progress and skills continue to be four-five years below expectation. The correct diploma path after 10th grade.

All of the courses are general courses during the freshman and sophomore years.

Nathan did not pass algebra in 9th grade; he is enrolled again this year.

Nathan begins taking a combination of general and applied courses (number noted with A) along with employability courses

NOTE: The Local Course Title for the Applied Courses should be the same as the DOE Course Title
